Sun Automation hired ARM to transform a warehouse into class A offices and engineering facilities to be used to design and manufacture automated machines which make specialized boxes used to ship materials worldwide.

A structural steel mezzanine was erected throughout most of the space to provide storage facilities above the office space. Light gauge metal framing along with structural steel columns and beams were used to support the mezzanine structure. HVAC systems were installed above and below the mezzanine.

The mezzanine had to be completed prior to starting the offices and engineering spaces below the mezzanine.

Work started on August 1st and had to be complete on October 31st so that Sun could move in on November 1st. Double shifts and Saturday / Sunday hours were required to meet this schedule. Final inspections were achieved on October 30th and Sun moved in on time.
